

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the Abstract of the Disclosure section at page 13 with the following amended section:

-- ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

~~The bartender's~~ A tip jar is ~~an extruded plastic bottle~~ having an open necked portion and a cylindrical body portion ~~having two~~ with an upper and a lower separable section[[s]] for ~~inherently~~ separating paper currency from [[the]] coins. The upper[[most]] separable ~~necked~~ section is adjacent has a centered ~~truncated cone~~ conical portion with its apex ~~pointed up and having~~ its peripheral base attached to the wall of the ~~middle bottle~~ upper separable section[[.]] ~~The conical portion and~~ and has peripheral coin receiving apertures alternating with raised ~~isosecles triangle shaped~~ coin deflectors adjacent the ~~bottle~~ wall. The ~~bottom bottle~~ lower separable section has a closed bottom. The lower section, the middle upper section, and the neck portion are connected together by threading regions. The ~~outside bottle~~ outer surface of the necked portion has ~~one~~ curved rectangular promotional an insert window guide for insertion of an advertisement sheet ~~of a beer or liquor brand, bar name and the like from an open top, and having~~ including a centered oval thumb slide opening to facilitate the removal of the sheet. ~~The opposite surface of the bottle can be used to attach a label (without a window) advertising a product logo branding and the like.~~ A plurality of light emitting diodes can be positioned proximate the bottom of the ~~bottle~~ jar and energized by battery to attract attention ~~to the bartender's tip jar.--~~